Over the next few 'BANKSIDE' issues I will run over what has been happening on our fisheries this season and then keep you up to date as the season progresses. To keep this current I need plenty of feedback from members.

PARADISE LAKE [Warlies]

In the late autumn we suffered sudden oxygen depletion in the lake due to a heavy fall of leaves rotting in the still warm weather. The EA were called in and they advised a pump to aerate the water, between Terry and myself we had three pumps going for a week and spent our time at the lake clearing loads of leaves. We seemed to have won when the fish stopped suffering and the weather chilled. However it continued to chill down as we all know to freezing for several weeks and the fish, still in a weak state now without oxygen from the surface and increasing nitrates in the silt trapped under the ice, could not stand it and the result was a loss of around 50 carp. Many other tree lined waters without fixed oxygen pumps suffered the same. As a result of this we have agreed to close the lake for this season to rest it and we will pollard some of the trees, Siltex the water to lower the silt, and once we are happy with the result and have had a survey of the fish stocks will restock. The cost of all the work will come from funds and will not affect the subs.
